	Code of Ethics or Conduct
E.2.1	Are the details of the code of ethics or conduct disclosed?	OECD PRINCIPLE VI (C) The board should apply high ethical standards. It should take into account the interests of stakeholders. The board has a key role in setting the ethical tone of a company, not only by its own actions, but also in appointing and overseeing key executives and consequently the management in general. High ethical standards are in the long term interests of the company as a means to make it credible and trustworthy, not only in day-to-day operations but also with respect to longer term	Y	The AIA Code of Conduct sets out the Company's commitment to its operating philosophy and the ethical guidelines for conducting business. The standards set forth in the Code apply not only to the directors, senior management, and employees but to the business partners including agents, contractors, subcontractors, suppliers, distribution partners, and those who act on behalf of AIA and Philam Life. The AIA Code of Conduct is made available on the Company Website and the 2018 Annual Report.

		commitments. To make the objectives of the board clear and operational, many companies have found it useful to develop company codes of conduct based on, inter alia, professional standards and sometimes broader codes of behaviour. The latter might include a voluntary commitment by the company (including its subsidiaries) to comply with the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises which reflect all four principles contained in the ILO Declaration on Fundamental Labour Rights. Company-wide codes serve as a standard for conduct by both the board and key executives, setting the framework for the exercise of judgement in dealing with varying and often conflicting constituencies. At a minimum, the ethical code should set clear limits on the pursuit of private interests, including dealings in the shares of the company. An overall framework for ethical conduct goes beyond compliance with the law, which should always be a fundamental requirement.		Source Documents: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ AIA Code of Conduct</li> <li>▪ 2018 Annual Report, page 37 - OPERATING PHILOSOPHY, AIA Code of Conduct</li> </ul>
E.2.2	Does the company disclose that all directors/commissioners, senior management and employees are required to comply with the code?		Y	The Company, its directors, senior management, officers and employees are mandated and required to comply with the AIA Code of Conduct. The Code specifies the standards of behaviour which every AIA employee, and stakeholders are expected to adhere. It applies to all AIA officers and employees, business partners, including agents, contractors, subcontractors, suppliers, distribution partners and other who act on behalf of AIA. Source Document: 2018 Annual Report, page 37 - AIA CODE OF CONDUCT
E.2.3	Does the company disclose how it implements and monitors compliance with the code of ethics or conduct?		Y	It is the Company's policy that all new hires are required to undergo the New Employees Orientation Program (NEOP), wherein Company and all other relevant compliance policies, including the AIA Code Conduct, are discussed. All new employees are thereafter required to certify that they have read and understood the AIA Code of Conduct, to ensure compliance with its provisions. The orientation program is offered on a monthly basis and is conducted either by the HR Training Department or Compliance. In addition, the Company conducts and requires a Code of Conduct - Annual Certification Program. To ensure that all Philam Life employees are aware of the provisions of the Code, an Annual Certification Program is conducted whereby all employees confirm their knowledge and understanding about the rules and guidelines written in the Code. The Program also requires all employees to certify, on an annual basis, their compliance to the Code of Conduct. Source Document: 2018 Annual Report, page 37 - CODE OF CONDUCT – ANNUAL CERTIFICATION PROGRAM
Board Structure &amp; Composition
E.2.4	Do independent directors/commissioners make up at least 50% of the board of directors/commissioners?	OECD PRINCIPLE VI (E) In order to exercise its duties of monitoring managerial performance, preventing conflicts of interest and balancing competing demands on the corporation, it is essential that the board is able to exercise objective judgement. In the first instance this will mean independence and objectivity with respect to management	Y	The Philam Life Board of Directors has seven (8) members, composed of four (4) independent directors, three (3) non-executive directors, and one (1) executive director. The independent directors are as follows: 1) Mr. Joaquin E. Quintos IV; 2) Mr. Antonino T. Aquino; 3) Ms. Doris Magsaysay-Ho; and Mr. Francis G. Estrada. Thus, 50% of the Board of Directors of Philam Life are independent directors.

		with important implications for the composition and structure of the board. Board independence in these circumstances usually requires that a sufficient number of board members will need to be independent of management. The ASX Code recommends at least a majority of independent directors, while the UK Code recommends at least half of the board, excluding the Chairman, be independent directors. The minimum of three independent directors is to ensure that companies with small boards have enough independent directors (note that stock exchange rules often require at least two independent directors).		Source Document: 2018 Annual Report, pages 32 to 36 - Board of Directors Profile
E.2.5	Are the independent directors/commissioners independent of management and major/substantial shareholders?	OECD PRINCIPLE VI (E) In order to exercise its duties of monitoring managerial performance, preventing conflicts of interest and balancing competing demands on the corporation, it is essential that the board is able to exercise objective judgement. This does not prevent shareholders from being board members. In others, independence from controlling shareholders or another controlling body will need to be emphasised, in particular if the exante rights of minority shareholders are weak and opportunities to obtain redress are limited. Any term beyond six years for a non-executive director should be subject to particularly rigorous review, and should take into account the need for progressive refreshing of the board and to succession for appointments to the board and to senior management, so as to maintain an appropriate balance of skills and experience within the company and on the board.	Y	Under the Manual of Corporate Governance of the Company, the optimum number of directorships shall be generally related to the capacity of a director in performing his duties diligently. The CEO and other executive directors, however, shall submit themselves to a low indicative limit of FOUR (4) or lower on membership in other corporate boards. The same low limit applies to independent non-executive directors who serve as full time executives in other corporations. There can be a higher indicative limit of FIVE (5) or lower for other directors who hold non-executive position in any corporation. In any case, the capacity of directors to serve with diligence shall not be compromised. Source Document:  Manual of Corporate Governance, pages 2-3, Philam Life Board Balance and Independence, B. E.3.21	Does the company disclose how key risks are managed?	OECD PRINCIPLE V (A) (6) Foreseeable risk factors. Disclosure of risk is most effective when it is tailored to the particular industry in question. Disclosure about the system for monitoring and managing risk is increasingly regarded as good practice.	Y	The Company believes that sound risk management hinges on effective quantification of risks. To this end, risk metrics are used to identify our exposure to financial risks. The Committee manages its exposure to financial risk within tolerances agreed by the Risk Working Committee. As an internal control procedure, risk metrics, risk tolerances, and limits were set to monitor risk exposure and to ensure that the Company is operating within its Risk Appetite. It also manages financial risk by periodically running specific scenario-modelling exercises. Operational Risk, on the other hand, is managed by first breaking these down into 13 defined Key Operational Risks (KORs): Business Interruption risk, Distribution risk, Finance and Actuarial Process risk, Fraud and Financial Crimes risk, Information Security risk, Information Technology risk, Investment Process risk, Legal and Regulatory risk, Operations Process risk, People risk, Products Management risk, Project risk, and Third Party risk. Each KOR is measured using KRIs, with a first line owner for respective KORs. The RWC reviews these risks regularly

				including emerging risks and risk incidents. Risk incidents are also being reported whether it be a potential, actual, or near-miss event. Management makes sure that incidents are being escalated in order to determine the root cause and apply proper mitigation. The Risk and Control Assessment process identifies and assesses the impact of Operational risks. Here, Management considers possible or actual risk events, ascribes likelihood of occurrence and potential severity, and then agrees on mitigation strategies to reduce these risks. These strategies are then monitored and the exercise being repeated, with the results stored in an operational risk database. Source Document:  2018 Annual Report, pages 42 to 43 – ENTERPRISE RISK MANAGEMENT

It should also be regarded as good practice for this committee, or equivalent body, to review and report to the board the most critical accounting policies which are the basis for financial reports.
